Opera Saratoga announces 50th Summer Season June 29 - July 10, 2011

Saratoga Springs, NY (January 31, 2011) Opera Saratoga (formerly Lake George Opera) will pay homage to its rich history this summer, when it presents Johann Strauss Jr's Die Fledermaus, W. A. Mozart's Così Fan Tutte and a 50th Anniversary Concert featuring many singers from the Company's past. Opera Saratoga will celebrate its 50th anniversary season with new productions of comedic masterpieces Die Fledermaus and Così Fan Tutte, both produced during the Opera's inaugural year.

Along with the mainstage productions, the Opera has many special events planned to commemorate the 50th including the 9th annual Saratoga Opera Ball, a free concert in Congress Park on the 4th of July and a new workshop opera created by Company Artistic Director Curtis Tucker.

The Fun Starts in June

The talented singers and all production staff responsible for "making the show go on", arrive in Saratoga at the beginning of June. The casts of both operas and the concert, begin rigorous rehearsals while the production departments are busy at work building sets and backdrops, designing costumes and wigs, arranging lighting and sound and in essence, creating the magical world where operas come alive. Before moving to the Spa Little Theater, Opera Saratoga (OS) will once again rehearse at the vacant JC Penney store in the Wilton Mall. In 2010, due to unavoidable conflicts, the Opera found itself without rehearsal space. Through a unique agreement with the Wilton Mall, arias were heard throughout the month of June, in and around the former JC Penny store. Cast, crew and mall patrons loved this distinctive collaboration. Visit the mall this June and get a sneak peak at what's in store at the Opera!
